To Marcia Taylor

Dear Marcia

My name is Dan Rodgers. My wife Sue and I drove for you up until a year ago. We found it to be a great experience and enjoyed delivering trucks and RVs for Bennett. When my mother got down with the treatment for her cancer we had to stop driving and take care of her. She is doing fine now.

This was a blessing in disguise because the time off gave me time to finish my book. The title of the book is Call Me Sergeant Rock (How A Boy Becomes A Man In Vietnam). It was released a few weeks ago and it is already in the top 1% of sales out of 8 million books. I am really proud of it.

I would write on the road after our 11 hours of driving were up. It took me 11 years to write the book and 18 months to get it published. I wanted to let you know that this is a driver's success story. People in the literary world tell me that the book is on the way to a best seller. Wouldn't that be nice? A Bennett driver makes good.

Would you please pass the word around? See my youtube video, type in Call Me Sergeant Rock or Dan Rodgers. The book is available on Amazon.com, Barnes and Nobel, Books A Million and about 8 other places. My website is <http://sbpra.com/DanRodgers/>

Thank You, it was a real pleasure working for a fine company like Bennett.

Sincerely
Dan Rodgers (Author)
